If you have time, you can let your soul unwind...

At SPA 2222m, we exclusively use alpine natural products, harnessing the pure essence of the mountains. At Riffelalp, handpicked meadow herbs are carefully incorporated for their unique healing properties.

The organic products from Segreti Walser, available for purchase with us, stand out for their use of raw materials from the valleys, forests, and alpine meadows once inhabited by the Walser people.

Each Segreti Walser product is crafted with deep respect for tradition and nature, with an unwavering commitment to quality and sustainability.

Herbal massage

Pure relaxation and velvety-soft skin are the results of the herbal massage with our home-made hand-tied bouquet of invigorating mountain herbs from Riffelalp and detoxifying stinging nettle. After a relaxing foot spa and a thorough foot massage, you will receive a head and face massage with caring almond oil, before you gently unwind, surrounded with the subtle aromas and the well-being effects of our Alpine meadows.

„Alpa“ Ritual

A deeply relaxing full-body massage with our arnica oil made from the precious arnica flowers from the Riffelalp meadows at 2,222m. It cares for the skin and has a soothing effect on stressed joints and muscles. This full-body massage ritual begins with a Swiss pine and rosemary foot spa and comprises an anti-stress massage for the head and face.

Other facilities

Fitness

Steam bath

At 45°C / 113°F and 100% humidity. Actually more of a vapour bath with ethereal oils.

Schönbiel Cave

The temperatures in this steam bath are around 40 – 50°C / 104 – 122°F, with plenty of radiated heat.

Chriiter-Grotta

This grotto with its saline baths and waterfalls offers a truly unique atmosphere.

Whirlpool

heated to 37°C / 99°F

Finnish sauna

A hot, dry sauna with a temperature of 85 – 90°C / 185 – 194°F and air humidity of just 10 – 15%.

Organic Sauna

With a temperature of 50 – 60°C / 122 – 140°F and moderate air humidity of 50%.

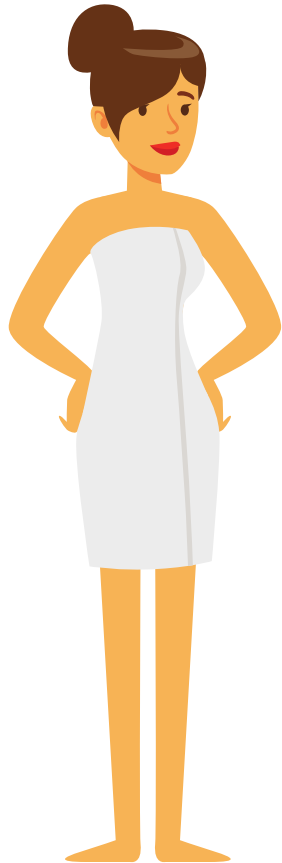

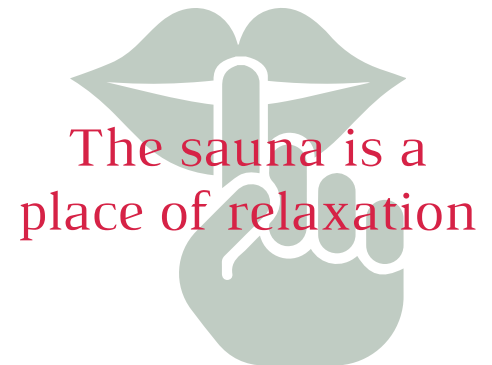

The small Sauna etiquette

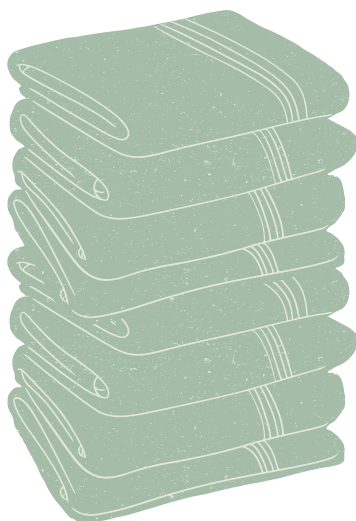

The correct preparation

Before entering a sauna, you should shower thoroughly; preferably with shower gel and shampoo. This is not only more hygienic, but also removes grease and perfume residues from the skin. After showering, you should make sure to dry yourself well, because damp skin hinders sweating.

No bathing textiles

Bikini, bathing dress and swimming suit are not desired in the sauna. This rule applies on the one hand because of hygiene, on the other hand synthetic fabrics hinder sweating: the heat cannot reach the skin as well and the sweat cannot evaporate as well. Only enter the sauna barefoot.

After each sauna session shower thoroughly, cool down well and rest

Always with a towel

Even if swimming suits and the like are a no-go in the sauna, you are still not completely naked. You always have a towel with you to sit on and cover yourself with outside the sauna.

THE ORGANIC PRODUCTS FROM SEGRETI WALSER, AVAILABLE FOR PURCHASE WITH US, ARE DISTINGUISHED BY RAW MATERIALS SOURCED FROM THE VALLEYS, FORESTS, AND ALPINE MEADOWS ONCE INHABITED BY THE WALSER PEOPLE.
